About Us

Clothes act as a frame, as a set of parentheses around our bodies. They give our bodies meaning, but do not define them. The underlining idea of dressing according to one's body type, which helps enhance their features, takes individuals a step or multiple steps closer to being themselves and being proud of it.

There are a few things better than finding an outfit that flatters one's figure. The thing is, if one doesn't understand why certain things look great on them, it can be hard to keep finding new favourites. In actuality, it all boils down to body shape. It is amazing how easy it is to build a wardrobe with outfits that suits a person and they love to wear, after learning how to dress for their body type.
